HINTS ON PLANTING PRUIT TREES

From the New York Independent.
It is probable that very many of our renders will this spring add to their orchard large numbers of trees of new varieties; and also meny more will commence fruit growing, for pleasure as well as profit, who have never done it before. Let us offer a word of caution. Do not attempt too much, nor aim to get too large over half a dozen of the very best apples, peals, on strawberries; and we would, above 'all recommend to commence with a small piece of ground first, and cultivate carefully. After that add according to your cripital. Small furits and fruit-trees need liberal applications of munice to make the crop come speedily. From the New York Indepen worth of manure so his land, every acte: then plants his vines; crope them three years; plows them under, and renews his $200 worth of manure. Fruitirees need as much in proportion as the vines and smaller plants do, and a good rule will be to apply to every standard tree yearly a half bushed to a bushed of well rotted manure, mixed with a less. Wo call special attention to the hints on this subject published by the California Farmer, which are very appropriate at this season.

and make it deep and rich, and then plant the tree, the work is done I if this is done right add tredl, the tree may begin to grow, and grow well for a little time. But as soon as the roots roach the side of the hole, the end of the cultivated soil, there they find a hard soil, the tree states of a pot in which a plant is grown; they then take a circuitous turn, and continue thus to grow until the whole cultivated space is filled with the roots, and the soil wholly exhaustic of its vitality. Then the tree cases to be signed and the soil wholly exhaustic of its vitality. Then the tree cases to be, stope, recedes, and soon dies.

"Let any person who adopts this plan take a pot-plant that has been growing ar months, and everse the plant, kneek out the plant with the ball of cartif, and see its condition, and they will learn the effect of planting trees in hole.

"Those who wish a successful, a profitable orehard should deepn right, and have the entry of the against the wall of Heaven. I must give the world a patrice that spring from a nuptial love. In a few days, then weather is so beautiful; times are getting so god; the prospects of political and moral reform so auspicious, that I cannot resist the distinction in side of honest nature any longer; so I am going to be married in a few days, the weather is so beautiful; times are getting so god; the prospects of political and moral reform so auspicious, that I cannot resist the distinction is suffered to hone an internet any longer; so I am going to be married in a few days, the weather is so beautiful; times are getting so god; the prospects of political and moral reform so auspicious, that I cannot resist the distinction is suffered to the distinct of honest nature any longer; so I am going to be married in a few days, the weather is so beautiful; times are getting so god; the prospects of political and moral reform so auspicious, that I cannot nearly in instinct of honest nature any longer; so I am going to be married in a few dathy; then instinct of honest natu land for the orchard deepty Phowea and subsoled, then enriched, and again plowed and replowed until the soil as all made fine and rich; then mark out the place for the trees, and when ready to plant see that they are carefully examined, soil and branch, that every broken or brussed root or branch as carefully cut off clean with a sharp knife, always bearbearing a mind that a broken and bruised link or loot will not bend, any more than a broken arm or leg of man. When amputation as done, let it be a telem cut.

"Nover manne trees and plants with given mannire, Always lot it be oft and well totted, and then carefully mixed, and not to much of if near the roots, better on the surface, and then carefully mixed, and not to much of it near the roots, better on the surface, and then carefully mixed, and most the same line coercid with gyprain, which will return the ammonia and moisture of it at the same line.

time. The planter of trees should always remember, too, that the lop and branches of the tree should always be much less than the roots; for if the roots when they take hold have too great space to feed with their sup, the sap runs slow, and often cannot feed the branches, and douth of the tree is the result. Whopas, if the branches and top are small, the roots grow vigorously and strong, and then the roots will soon make top enough, and restore a better top than any cut off when planted. CHAMPION SAFES.

and strong, and restore a botter top than any cut off when planted.

"One of the greatest errors of tree-planters is to leave too much top on the trees for the roots to sustain; and the new planted trees start slowly, and often full from having too many mouths to feed. Planters of trees, if they will read more of the nature of a fruit tree, its circulation of sap, root, and blanch, we should their wagons and implements last 25 years, while ours do not last over five or ten. Where is the difference? Are our mechanics poorer, or are they too lastly, or do farmers fear to pay enough for first-class work?

"In America everything in the way of unplements and tools wears out very quickly; and harness, as well as every kind of lockler or cloth, tears soon after it is new and very form afterward. When I was about 11 years old, I learned to hold a plow with low handled wooden plow that my father had when he commenced farming before I was born. And 15 years afterward this plow was still in existence having had a new beam, and porhaps handles too, in the time; but, being a very handy had favortic implement, it was kept in repair layorito implement, it was kept in repair for the youngest plowboys to go with. The defence will not carry out all these purposes unless they succeed, as they propose in showing that those recalings of Mrs. McFarland in Trenton were without the knowledge and consent of her husband; also that her husband's means were at that time amply sufficient to provide for herself and the children in comfort; that her husband was no paralytic, nor never was; nor ever has been, that Mrs. McFarland's use of Messrs. Richarson's Sindair's and Greeley's names as long back as then was a surprise to her husband, who was anoware that they know his wife, or she them, and that such use of them, as said, is at least indicative of an intimacy for a longer period than has hitherto been maintained, or thought to be capable of being established.

This Trenton episcode will be the starting point in the defense. It is given out that there will be no gap of time left unaccounted for, and the presence of Richardson as a visitor and friend of Mrs. McFarland will be traced week by week and month by month and year by ear from the time when Richardson escaped from Confederate capitivity down to the event when he was mortally shot in the Tribuno.

It is announced that the theory of the defence in the McGarland trial, to commence march Till, will be to prove that a far back as 1865 Mr. Richardson and his friends began their finally successful work of impressing himself and their joint principles upon Mr. McFarland, also, that in the practical allance Mrs. McFarland, and will be sought to be extablished, going to show her long time the march of the first time to be brought to light in this investigation, and will be sought to be extablished, going to show her long time ago estrangement from him, and her studious misorpresentations of their circumstances and their mutual relations.

To thus end inquiry is likely to be instituted in regard to Mrs. McFarland's first public appearance as a render and declaimer in Trenton, New Jersey, in 1863-1. The defence professes to be able to prove that at that period the lady suddenly appeared at the quiet capital of New Jersey; that she ingratiated, horself into the good graces of several literary and leading gentlemen of the town, such as Messas. Dear Sir—I received your letter. I am not surprised nor much moved at any scandal which may be publicly or privately uttered atout myself. I do not usually contradict them. To your personal suggestion, however, I willingly reply.

All the statements which you said were made are false, as the author well knew, if he had any knowledge on the subject.

I have always been a firm believer in the Bible Ho is a fool who disbelieyes the existence of a God, as you say is charged on me. I also believe in the statement of a Hell for the especial benefit of this slanderer.

I have said that I nover deay any charges, however gross. I make an exception whon my religious belief is brought in question. I make no protensions to piny (the more pity) but I would not be thought an inside. I was raised a Baptist, and adhere to their belief.

compelled to carry its freights-averaging by temporate to early its imaging—averaging the 14-10 dents per ton por mile, and the small passenger business it can command from the spar-oly populated country that its road trag-verces, added to its greater distances as a through line from eastern cities to all points in the west, are the reasons that more than 70 per cent. of its receipts are required to meet its working expenses. The operations of this railway during the past year have been carefully and economically conducted by A. L. Tyler,

The Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicage Rulroad, also leased by the Pennsylvania Company, carned during the last six months of 1869, $4,146,832, while its expenditures were $2,826,086. The somi-annual rent, in-terest, &c., amounting to $1,288,082, the profit on lease was $36,794. The gross income of the three roads (the Fort! Wayne only being for six months) was $24,600,309, and the expense of operating them was $10,037,574; leaving a net profit of $5,022,825, on which information concerning the different connec of making these connections cannot be questioned, especially in view of the rivalry of the companies of other States, and notably of the New York and Erie, of which James Flak, ir s the chief regulator. Under such policy th Pennsylvania Railroad has secured the lions share of the traffic of the great West, and the alvantage to the stockholders and to the whole people of Pennsylvania must be manifest to the very one.

he question of reopening the Fitz-John Pe court-martial o and the efforts that are me court-martial cash, and the efforts that are ma-king to restore that officer to his position in the army, are commented upon—here in political and military circles. The pressure to give General Porter another hearing is very great and from present appearance is likely to pro-luce the desired result.

While this subject is before the public, it is the intention of Secondar Chandler to ask the indulgence of the Secondar Give some international ing and hitherto unknown evidence in reference to General Pope's campilgn in Virgin a, and General Porter's connection there-vith. Senator Chandler who was a member of the Committee on the Conduct of the War, will make a remarkable statement to the effect that the court which convicted General Portor was unanimously in favor of sen-tencing him to death for failing to aboy the orders of General Pope; but this sentence was not found for the sole reason that President Lincoln gave them to understand that he would not approve it. When this became known the court agreed upon the severest senionce which they believed the President would approve and cause to be carried out. Senctor Chandler's speech, which, he says, will be made for the sole purpose of vindicating history while all the witnesses funitiar with the facts are alive, is likely to cause a sensation.

RYERY SATURDAY

In another col Is seather column, we present an editorial article from the Oil City Times, upon the somewhat trite and familiar text of "Titusville," in which it will be seen, the writer undertakes to

uswer the question

The object of the writer seems to be the laudable one of exciting a spirit of smulation in the torpid bosoms of his own people, and of stirring them up to shake off the lethargy that seems to benumb their activities. The laurels of Titusvillo will not suifer one at least, of its inhabitants to sleen, and his dreams are over that if "times have been dark" in our office, and we confess we have never yet enjoyed very perfect illumination; it hat never been our custom to hintor whisper about it even to our friends. We never, indeed, heard before of a "rully" to keep us up, though we have frequently been threatened with a "rally" to put us down. We have been repeatedly honored with "calls," us the ministers say, to Eric, to Meadwille, to Franklin, to Tidioute, to Pit hole, to Petroleun Centre, to Oil City, but we have been saved by a kind Providence from all such self-destruction. We have never been permitted, in punishment for our sins, to be condemned to live in the pensiveSabbath stillness of Meadville or to breather the air of slow ruin and faul deouy that hange like a füneral pall over Frunklin. And least of all in our dreams we never equild make out that the finger of prophecy pointed in the direction of Oil City.

But, on the century, we early discerned that by reason of its natural advantages, its pleasant seat in this beantiful valley, and upon the undulating hills that surround it, that Titus fills would inevitably become the most attractive place for a residence in all this country. And so its, and this explains why it is that oil men are flooking here to settle in such aupprecedented numbers, from Rouseville, and I proved the ten copies would be paid for. It is that oil men are flooking here to settle in such aupprecedented numbers, from Rouseville, and avanced so much before the opening of spring. These people that have the means to chipy life reason that they cannot better their condition by losing their identity in the solutude of the great cities. In this regard, we have an humble sense of our inferiority to Orl City and as we perantulate the balmy first of that gallant burg, we lift our eyes with admiration, and a considerable feeling of diziness too, when we gave upon the upper and reserved splendors of Oottage Hill.

The Sale of Cadetship. Washing on Cor. Pittsburgh Commercial, Feb. 17.
The Military Committee took additional tes timony in the cadethij metter. A witness of high standing, and a former Major General in the volunteer service, stated that he, at the request of a friend, was inquiring as to the possibilities of securing an appointment for a son from some of the members who had not yet made nominations, and that witness had been made nominations, and that witness had become to Whittemore, of South Carolin referred to Whittemore, of South Carolina, who immediately offered to make the appointment for two thousand dollars, and added that witness must decide soon, as he had averall offers. As witness had no idea of going into such business, he turned on his heel and left Mr. Whittmore in rodarion to other cases, but no decesive evidence was obtained. Stories relative to John Covode have ken inquited into somewhat, and they are not substantiated. Mr. Pettis, of Pennsylvania, has been notified of the showing made yesterday against him, and will, of course, he accorded a hearing if he wants one. Mr. Collins, formorfy of Alabama, now of Wisconstin, has also received similar notification. The friends of Pettis Collins and Whitmore are all busy in circulating denials on their behalf, and trying to create sympathy, but the oridence tells its own story and is pretty well understood in Congressional circles.
